Hawa Junior

Sliding quality is quality of life
Nicer living, better living

With age, the demands for comfort and quality often increase.

Compact construction and new forms of living and the shortage of urban living space require flexible and space-saving room solutions. That is an argument in general for sliding doors. At the same time, the population is ageing, more demanding, and increasingly willing to invest in comfort for the later stage of life.

All of these are the best arguments for a high-quality, durable sliding solution with a soft closing system, which is currently only offered by the Hawa Junior 100. It opens new doors, especially in customer segments with reduced physical strength and capabilities. And with its puristic look and the option for discreet ceiling integration or wall mounting with high-quality side finishes, it also meets the most diverse demands in terms of design.

Hawa Junior

Unique performance guarantee
Joy that lasts. For a long time.

The Hawa Junior 100 makes the decision for anyone involved in the construction process as easy as opening and moving the doors. Because it is the only sliding fitting that can give you the certainty that the performance will not decrease over the years or years. This means that it meets all requirements, standards, and demands for profitability in the long term – guaranteed.

Especially since Hawa Sliding Solutions not only ensures the longevity of this fitting, but also continued effortless opening. And thus also guarantees that the joy of this fitting will last, even if the strength of its users diminishes due to age or other reasons.
